

One of the newest among Clarkson's distinctions is that, through the ICRN, it owns and operates the smallest FM radio station in the nation. This station was put into use early this year; the Inter College Radio Network had already included WHTC and WCCT, two AM stations. Students from Clarkson and State operate the station, and plan and conduct the programs bringing entertainment and information to its listeners. Although the ICRN was founded only two years ago with the combining of WHTC, founded in 1947, and WCCT, founded in 1961, it is one of the most worthwhile activities at Clarkson. The ICRN has accomplished a great deal in a short time, and Clarkson can be justifiably proud of it. Although many students from State and Clarkson have contributed, it is largely due to the perseverance of Gary Hoyer, Dick Place, Bob Rhoda, and Bob Stone that the network has been such a success.
